

Method 10

American and European bison or wisent, water buffalo, tamarau, anoa, gaur, gayal, banteng, kouprey, saola, yak, and takin.

Rank on the sum of both horn lengths and circumferences plus greatest spread. (Exceptions are anoa and saola, for which spread is recorded but not used in final score.)

Method 10

American and European bison or wisent, water buffalo, tamarau, anoa, gaur, gayal, banteng, kouprey, saola, yak, and takin.

Note: Because of the large variety of horn configurations among these bovids, it is strongly recommended you read the RW Measuring Handbook before measuring any of these animals.

Length (L): For bison, wisent, gaur, gayal, banteng, kouprey, and yak, measure each horn on the outside curve starting at the lowest point on the side of the head and continue to the tip. For anoa and saola, start on the front and continue to the tip. For water buffalo and tamarau, start on the upper edge of the front of the horn. Keep to the upper front edge and continue to the outside of the horn and then to the tip. For takin, start between the horns and move the tape onto the front ridge and from there to the outside of the horn and then to the tip.

Circumference (C): Measure the circumference near the place as possible BUT keep the tape at a 90-degree angle to the axis of the horn. To do so, form a continuous loop with the tape. With bison, wisent, gaur, and water buffalo, extra care must be taken to not "slant" the tape as it is very easy to make a circumference more or less parallel to the bases rather than at a 90-degree angle to the base. With takin, measure the base parallel to the base line.

Greatest spread (G): Measure the widest outside spread at a right angle to the long axis of the skull.

Note: For anoa and saola, the spread (G) measurement is required but is supplemental and not part of the score. For all other bovids, L plus C plus G is the total score.
