Method 13-a

All Wildebeests or Gnus (EXCEPT Black Wildebeest)

Circumference: Measure the basses at their widest points. Make sure the loop of the tape is tight and parallel to the horn ends this measurement is not taken at a 90-degree angle to the axis of the horns. This is somewhat akin to the measurement of a burr of a large deer but smoother. (C)

Greatest Spread: Establish the outer limits of the horns using two right-angle forms. Measure the spread in a straight line and at a right angle to the axis of the skull. (G)

Tip-to-Tip Spread: Measure the tip-to-tip spread in a straight uninterrupted line. (E) In order to fall in the typical category (a) the tip-to-tip measurement must be at least 2 inches (5 cm) less than the greatest spread and (b) both the left and the right tips must be at least 1 inch (2.5 cm) less than the widest spread on their respective sides. If not, the animal falls into the non-typical category.
